residential neighborhoods of Asifra district, north of the city, and the residential neighborhoods in Al-Saleh Gardens in the Sabr al-Mawadim District and the Al-Ashrouh District of Jabal Habashi District, and intensified their shelling in the Wadi al-Qadi neighborhood and Haret Bani Saif in the Al-Barara area In Al-Mudhafar Directorate. The report revealed that the Houthi militia imposed new royalties on the residents and villagers of the governorate of Taiz, which are under its control, where militia supervisors informed the population of the need to pay 500 Yemeni riyals "less than a dollar" for every individual in their homes, including children and women, on a monthly basis, noting that The supervisors put their representatives in isolation and the villages under their control to collect these amounts compulsorily and arrest all those who refuse to pay them. The report touched on the suffering of Al-Mudhafar district from multiple violations, which have emerged more clearly in recent times, due to the intersection of the overcrowded directorate between government forces and the blockade of the Houthi militia located in the line of contact with the Directorate and the proliferation of militants.

The report also examined the increasing security instability in the province by armed groups and some government security personnel who belong to multiple factions.

The report concluded by reviewing the worsening health situation due to the resurgence of viral epidemics and the spread of Corona virus in light of the scarcity of medicines, tests, and oxygen, the absence of some of them and the absence of the role of organizations.

The center said that, according to medical statements, "dengue, malaria and celery fever" chikungunya fever "spread unprecedented along with the spread of the Corona pandemic, and various fevers recorded their highest rate in the past days and suffered from whole neighbourhoods within the city and its surroundings."

The medical center added, "The medical sources warned of the transformation of Taiz into a hotbed of fever, such as malaria, dengue and celery," chikungunya fever "due to the presence of the appropriate climatic environment suitable for the growth and presence of its vectors in the absence of hygiene and the exacerbation of the sanitation problem."
